

Someone SPECIAL

I am nothing special so don't tell me that I am worthy of everything beautiful because Life has taught me that I should find flaws in myself in every way and I am not going to war with myself believing that there is a miracle inside me so I will not change my mind about that I am not of significant value and nothing nobody will say will make me believe I deeply matter to this world because each day I wake up feeling I don't find myself worthy to be blessed and I am not going to visit the places where immense beauty lives in me because whenever I look at myself I always think Who am I to be someone special?
